Campus Clubs Elect Presidents; Joe Kneip Named STUFF Editor

Joe Kneip, Cincinnati, has tentatively been named editor of STUFF for the 1953-54 school year upon the resignation of the present editor, Buel Adams. Adams will assume his duties as 1954 editor of PHASE next September.

Kneip, who will be a sophomore in the coming term, had experience on his high school paper and was a STUFF reporter this year.

Other campus leaders chosen for next year are the presidents of seven campus clubs which held elections within the past two weeks. Cotter Tharin was elected president of next year's Geology Club; Bill Miller won the vice-presidency, while Carl Kohlin and Ted DeBrosse won the offices of secretary and treasurer respectively.

Al LaTorra was nominated as the leader of the Biology Club in 1953-54. LaTorra won out over John Griffin, who was elected vice-president. Bob Brandt was elected secretary and Fred Stucker won the treasurer's job.

Elmer Molchan became president of two campus clubs—the Glee Club and the Lake County Club. Assisting him in the singers' organization will be vice-president George Kuhn and secretary-treasurer Jim Murphy. Other officers of the Lake County Club are Joe Baldin, vice-president; Bob Brandt, secretary; and Bob Companik, treasurer.

Because the History Club is still in its early stages, the members decided to give control of the club's affairs to only one man. Their choice is Bill Froemberg.

The Columbian Players selected as their choice for president, Dick Kotheimer. He will be aided by vice-president Phil Menna, secretary Bill Walker, and treasurer Buel Adams.

White Captures Presidency in

Frosh Marathon

Ballot-scarred freshmen rested this week after a six-day, eight-ballot voting marathon to choose their class officers for the next school year. The voting took place May 21-26 in the college dining room.

John White, Indianapolis, won the top position in a run-off with fellow Hoosier Marv Hackman, after the pair had outraced four other campaigners on the first ballot.

Hackman had led on the first ballot, and led again on the first voting for the vice-presidency, but once more suffered a similar fate, as the v-p post went to Cincinnati's Ed Hennekes on the re-voting.

Basketball star Tim O'Brien, Chicago, decided on Joe Simala, also in a run-off, for the secretary's spot. A last-minute write-in campaign produced a victory for retiring president Joe Maher, as the Joliet handsman edged past Jack Miller in the voting for treasurer of the class. Just to follow the example set by previous offices, this, too, was a run-off election.

More social activity, such as was seen in this NFCCS dance in April, has been promised by next year's Student Council. In the foreground, Ken Fedder goes through his paces, while Tim Stivers can be recognized in the left background.

61 Seniors Gather For Baccalaureate

Sixty-one seniors will assemble formally for the last time in a group this Sunday, June 7, when they partake in their graduation exercises in the College Theater. The main speaker will be His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stitch, Archbishop of Chicago, who will give the baccalaureate address and present the diplomas. George J. Grecu, elected valedictorian by his class, will present the farewell speech.

The seniors will have already become alumni before this final event, however. On June 6, the evening before, they will be admitted as members of the Alumni Association immediately after the alumni banquet at 7:00 o'clock. The banquet will be followed by a dance from 9:00 to 12:00 p. m. in Raleigh Hall.

On Sunday, the big day itself, an academic procession and Mass beginning at 10:15 a. m. will open the ceremonies. The Most Rev. John G. Bennett, Bishop of Lafayette, will celebrate the Baccalaureate Mass. The degrees will be conferred at 3:00 p. m. From 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. a faculty reception of graduates and parents will take place in Raleigh Hall.

May 26, the seniors were guests of the faculty for the annual joint banquet of the two groups in the College Dining Room, at which time final plans for these events were explained.

Members of the senior class of 1953 and degrees to be conferred include:

Summer Schedule Lists 20 Events

The summer session of St. Joseph's will be only a small part of the vacation-time activity on campus this year. In the summer schedule, released recently by the Rev. Joseph A. Otte, treasurer of the college, some 20 events are included.

The roster reveals that St. Joe will be host for six retreats and five football training sessions, besides offering the six-week summer school.

The last graduate will hardly have bid goodbye before the retreat season begins. June 7—Graduation Day—will mark the opening of a retreat for priests of the Lafayette diocese. Theirs will close the tenth, but their places will be assumed by the Christian Brothers June 11-19 and Alcoholics Anonymous June 12-14.

Volunteer Firemen Here
The weekend of June 19-20, volunteer firemen of the area will congregate in Rensselaer, with St. Joe serving as lodging and center of operations. The summer session begins June 22 and will continue until August 1.

Thursday, June 25, servers of the region are slated to overflow the campus for their annual "day." Almost a month then intervenes before large-scale activity—this time in the guise of the Chicago Bears' football training—occupies local thinking July 20. The Bears encamp until Sept. 12. Also on July 20, a Central Catholic College Association meeting will take place here.

Farm Convention in August
The Indiana Farm Management Association will hold a convention in Collegeville Aug. 4-5. Two summer retreats for laymen take place here Aug. 7-9 and Aug. 28-30; a similar retreat for women will occur Aug. 21-23. In between, from Aug. 16 until Aug. 23, Leo High School of Chicago will hold its football training sessions here.

Speech Finalists Clash on Stage

Marv Hackman, Jasper, Ind., the only freshman to compete in the third annual contest for Speech I students, won over a field of eight last Thursday with his "The Necessity of Politics in a College Education."

Second prize went to Karl In-krott, Leipsic, Ohio, who spoke on Communism—"What Are They Afraid Of?" Bill Zimmer, Covington, Ky., won third for his "Non-Euclidian Geometry"; and Tom Van Acker, Monroe, Mich., was fourth with "Facts About Samsonite."

Other participants included Jim Progar, Ray Sarlito, John Griffin, and Bob Beaupre. The judges were the Revs. Joseph B. Kenkel and Alvin W. Druhman and Mr. Joseph L. Druse. The master of ceremonies was John Good.

The men of Leo will be succeeded by St. Mel's, also of the Windy City, from Aug. 23 to Aug. 29. Aug. 25-Sept. 5, Holy Trinity holds its training period.

Members of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine meet here Aug. 25-27. The summer schedule closes with the appearance of the Puma football trainees Aug. 31.

More April action, this time with Mundelein as guest. Dick Kotheimer, Gerry Gladu, Ron Bomba, and Tom Shworles are the interested St. Joe men.

1952-53 IN REVIEW

Next Sunday, a group of St. Joe men will file across the stage of the College Theater and receive their diplomas of graduation from the college. With this ceremony, St. Joseph's College will officially close its doors for the academic year, 1952-53.

As has been its custom for the last few years, STUFF, then, in this, its last issue, takes time out to review the people and the events that have made this 62nd year of St. Joseph's a memorable one.

News was made on many fronts. A new Dean of Men, in his first experience as a disciplinarian, has proved amenable to student problems and eminently equitable, while still maintaining high standards of student conduct.

The Student Council, elected last year primarily on a platform of more social activity, has kept that campaign promise and has provided dances and entertainment galore from the Student Activity Fund created at the mid-point of last year. Because of his faithfulness to his promises and because of his own innate abilities, Student Council president Hugh McAvoy was reelected to his post—this time unanimously.

The Puma athletic teams made news—in one form or another. The basketball squad's 14-10 record, certainly not imposing, does not reveal the true quality of the team. Coming from behind time and again, the team's ability to bound back in a seemingly hopeless cause game after game began to leave the impression that the Pumas would "spot" the opposition ten or twelve points in the first half, and then win in a last-minute spurt just for the sake of excitement. Whatever it was, it was glorious. Coach Dick Scharf's quintet, in grabbing an ICC co-title, became the first basketball championship team in St. Joe history.

The baseball battlers of Coach Jim Beane powered their way to a 14-2 season record, in one of the most amazing reversals of form in the annals of Collegeville athletics. Only two years ago, the team lost all 15 of its games. Last year, they struggled to a 1-6 record. Yet this year, team spark and spirit, magnificent coaching, and all-around ability swept the diamond-men to the heights. And the best aspect of the picture is that only three will graduate—starting pitcher Joe Pindell, reliever John Wolfe, and reserve catcher Don Gorman.

Academically, St. Joe advanced in '52-'53. Not by gigantic strides did it progress; but slowly, at times almost imperceptibly, it continued along its path of Catholic education. One development that bloomed into a full-scale activity on campus was the reading clinic, under the direction of Mr. Salvatore Pupo and the Rev. Ernest Lucas.

During this year, St. Joseph's began participation in a "3-2" education program with three other institutions of higher learning—the universities of Notre Dame and Purdue, and Rose Polytechnic Institute. Under this plan, engineering students attend St. Joseph's for three years, learning the essentials of their field and also acquiring a basic knowledge of the liberal arts, and then matriculate into one of the other three for advanced study in their chosen fields.

As far as individual news items go, four of the biggest events of the past year were the appointment of a new football coach, the visit of the Pilgrim Virgin Fatima statue, the reappearance of the campus literary journal, and the 72-57 basketball victory over Butler.

The new coach, Joe Pawlowski, succeeds Coach Gene Fetter, who was plagued throughout the season by injuries and the lack of a ground attack. He was replaced in the hope that a different style might break the gridiron ineptness.

In October, 1000 people viewed the Fatima statue in the local chapel. Sponsored by the Rev. Leonard Kostka and the Sanguinist Club, the statue, seen by millions in the United States and Canada, made, in Collegeville, its first stop in the United States since it had been blessed by the Pope.

Measure, largely through the efforts of its moderator, the Rev. Alvin Druhman, and its editor, Frank Molson, made a welcome appearance after the lapse of a year and a half. All factors indicate that the continued labors of these two insure its regular publication for many years to come.

As far as the Butler victory goes, words cannot describe it. It was the brightest gem in a glittering crown of athletic triumphs. The play of Don Merki and Bill Elbert, the showmanship of Willie Kellogg, the carrying of the coach and team off the floor on the shoulders of the student body, will remain for years to come as wonderful memories.

In the line of club activity, the greatest advance was made by the Commerce Club. Thanks to an ambitious moderator and a hard-working crew of officers, the club greatly increased its membership and its activities. The Geology Club, the Biology Club, the Glee Club—all were top performers during the year just completed. The Columbian Players experimented and ranged from the depths to the heights in their performances. The History Club began its first year with enthusiasm; the Lake County Club expanded its activities; the Albertus Magnus Society, the Chicago, Don Bosco, and Monogram Clubs had a successful year. Finally, the Band won many an applause for its high-spirited performances throughout the season.

And the STUFF staff plodded along in its own inimitable way, attempting to chronicle these and all the activities that made up volume 62 of the life and times of St. Joseph's College.

Flaherty Elected DMU President

The monthly meeting of the Dwenger Mission Unit (DMU) of Xavier Hall, held on Sunday, May 24, was the scene of the annual election of officers for the Unit. Leon Flaherty captured the presidency on the second ballot with 29 votes, while Edward Novotny came in second with 20, and Tom Bir came in last with 6 votes.

The voting for the vice-president was a fight among the three leading candidates, but Bob Jones managed to pull ahead in the second ballot by receiving 25 votes, leaving 17 to John Kalicky, and 14 to Joe Stechschulte.

Likewise on the second ballot, Charles Werling took over the office of secretary with 30 votes, leaving 26 votes to be split evenly between Robert Porter and William Hoyng.

The fight for treasurer of the Unit was close, but Joe Stechschulte crept away with the office on the second ballot with 20 votes, while John Miller and Don Frericks had 16 and 18 votes respectively. Jim McNeil became the Unit's librarian by a majority of 34 votes on the second ballot, leaving 13 to William Hoyng and 9 to Harold Vanden Bossche.

The office of chairman of the Program Committee was filled by Dave Wurm who received 41 votes on the second ballot. His competitors for the office were Noel Coughlin, John Conway, and Jim Luley, who together collected 15 votes. The last officer to be installed was John K. Miller, who became the Unit's historian by edging William Hoyng and George Huber by 26 votes.

The officers mentioned above take over the positions vacated by: Richard De Cavitt, president; Gene Wilson, vice-president; Robert Kurber, secretary; Patrick Kinney, treasurer; Joseph Jakubko, librarian; Richard Kraemer, program committee chairman; and Joseph Stechschulte, historian. The Rev. Clement Kuhns is moderator of the Unit.

College Enters Co-op Program

St. Joseph's College will inaugurate a 3-2 cooperative program with the Purdue School of Agriculture next fall, it was announced recently.

The program will be similar to those already existing in the fields of chemical, civil, mechanical, electrical, and metallurgical engineering in conjunction with the College of Engineering of Purdue University.

The five-year program ultimately leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Joseph's and a Bachelor of Science in Engineering degree from the school to which the student has transferred, in this case, the Purdue Agricultural School.

SHAVINGS

By ED BYRNE

SHAVINGS, LIKE EVERY-

THING ELSE, has had its ups and downs. Maybe that's because it has been written about people—who also operate on the elevator plan. But, at any rate, it has; and so here I must thank not only those who have made the column interesting with their antics or other suggestions, but also those—equally appreciated—who let me know when the quality of the thing was falling below the quantity. . . . In short, it's been an enjoyable task and—at least to me—rewarding of the effort applied.

THE FRANK HOESS SCHOLARSHIP, a new $2000 grant established by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association in honor of the recently deceased father of Jim Hoess, a junior at St. Joe's, will be applied for the first time to the education of a public health worker in the fall of this year.

Mr. Hoess, who served for fifteen years as the president of the association, had devoted himself untiringly to the elimination of TB in northwestern Indiana. Half of the annual award will be provided by the National Tuberculosis Association and the other half by the Lake County chapter, the total to be awarded to a resident of the county.

And thus another honor is added to the memory of a man who in 1948 was appointed a Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great by Pope Pius XII in recognition of his years of active leadership in church affairs and his contributions to Catholic Action, as well as for his labors to combat tuberculosis.

DUST IN THE CORNER: Keith Forton ready and itching to get back to Michigan for a summer of speedboat racing, in which he is quite a successful competitor. . . . John Sheets, to be married in June, now flashing a new two-tone Chevrolet, a wedding present from his father. . . . Steve Olczkiewicz, the only man, except for Hugh Schadle in '49, to go through a year of tests in Mr. Sanderlin's World Lit course with nothing lower than an A—adding to that this semester a weekly string of 100's in reading quizzes! . . . Tom Everling thrilling all the boys with a brand new household pet—a fly on the end of a string! . . . But that ain't nothin' compared to Pat 'Henry Bear' Carr and Dick 'Fireball' Dwinell, who for several weeks have shared their room with a snake in the wall. . . . The old athletic field the frequent scene, in recent days of softball contests played with more than the fervor that comes from the love of the game. . . . The post-office, after putting in a new loading platform, now obtaining a new Dodge truck to properly use the thing.

And so the last flurry of chips and splinters falls to the floor. The old man with the strong and calloused hands places his whittling knife upon the table, walks to the corner of the room, takes his broom in hand, and slowly, thoughtfully, sweeps the last few remnants of dust and shavings into a little pile by the door. Then, breathing a gentle sigh, with one swift stroke he whisks the scraps out into the summer air, where they are quickly caught by the breeze and scattered in all directions. The old man shuts the door, glances once at his bare and shiny floor, then goes and settles himself in a comfortable chair, ready for a long, long journey into the land of clouds and drifting snows and soft silent sleep. . . . A young and beautiful woman, dressed in a flowing mantle of blue, enters the room, picks up the knife and the wood-carvings for which it has been used. Gathering them all to her bosom, she walks to a cupboard on the wall, sets the carvings in order on the shelf, then turns and, with a smile toward the sleeping craftsman, goes back across the room then out the door, leaving him to his slumber. . . .

BILL SCHULTE

STAR 3rd BASEMAN ON THE PUMAS' RECORD-BREAKING TEAM

COACH JIM BEANE WILL BE EXPECTING EVEN GREATER THINGS OF BILL NEXT YEAR.

The Grapevine

By JOHN WOLFE

COACH JIM BEANE'S baseball team posted several records this year, but none was more important than the complete game mark. Pitchers went the distance in half of the 16 games the Pumas played. St. Joe averaged exactly nine runs per game, another school record. Still another was the ten straight victories registered at home. This observer is not sure, but the team batting average of .316 for the season must be something of a record too. This was also the first winning baseball season since the spring of 1950, when a St. Joe team managed an 8-7 season.

Coach Beane remarked that the reason for such a fine year was that the players worked as a unit, displayed fine team spirit, and a driving will to win. As for next season, the Pumas will have the entire infield and outfield back, along with pitchers Dick Dwinell, Ted Ashburner, Jim Progar, Jim Couture, Pete Schummer, and Joe Gerba.

CATCHER HUGH WOLF, Butler, was declared ineligible at a meeting of the Indiana Collegiate Conference board May 27. It was revealed that he had played professional ball in the Florida League and the Georgia-Florida league, approximately 30 games. The board voted to let the Butler executives decide whether or not to forfeit their games. Indications are that they will decide in the affirmative. In case of such a forfeit, St. Joe would have a season's record of 14-2 in baseball, an ICC record of 5-1. Valparaiso would win the ICC title with a record of 7-1. Butler will still win the ICC All-Sports Award regardless of how the baseball question is settled.

THE ANNUAL INTRAMURAL track meet was dominated by Ray Ramirez, who won the 100- and 220-yard dashes and also took the broad jump with a leap of 18-ft 4-in. Chet Pilat won the high jump, as he cleared 5-ft. 2-in. Pete Fenlon took singles honors in the horseshoe contest while Jim Progar and Karl Inkrott copped the doubles.

EVEN THOUGH the Puma golf team did not fare too well this year, the Bellarmine Concord had this to say about the St. Joe linksters: "Showing the usual early season jitters, the Knights (Bellarmine) bowed to a powerful St. Joseph's College 11½ to 6½ (April 11) as "Dashing" Dave Brown led his Bellarmine mates with a very respectable 86, but the Hoosier's overall talent and "salted" veterans proved the difference." Well, Father Smolar! Where did this powerhouse come from?

Ashburner Leads Pumas to Win Over Indiana Central Greyhounds

Ted Ashburner was in charge all the way in the game against Indiana Central played at St. Joe on May 19, as he spread eight Greyhound hits while his teammates whacked out 10 to achieve an 8-1 victory.

The game was in doubt until the eighth inning, however, when the Pumas collected six hits and five runs to break the game wide open. Ashburner's support was perfect, he himself committing the only error; Ted displayed fine control, walking only one. Batting hero of the game was Bill Schulte, ninth in the line-up, who collected three hits and a walk in four trips to the plate.

Indiana Central scored first in the third, but St. Joe came back with a pair in their half of the inning when Ashburner was safe on an error and scored on a triple by Schulte. Schulte in turn scored on a fly by George Smolar. The next run came in the sixth on a single by Schulte and successive singles by Smolar and Kellogg.

The big eighth got under way when Schulte belted his second triple to right center. His hit was followed by successive singles by Smolar, Kellogg, Meyer and Wasni. Merki singled later, driving in the last runs.

Pumas Retain Newman Prize

By JOHN WOLFE

For the second straight year, an all-star group of Puma intramural ball players brought the coveted Newman Club Trophy back to St. Joe May 24 as they proved to Butler, Indiana, Purdue and Illinois that "the bigger they are the harder they fall."

In the single elimination tournament held at Turkey Run State Park, St. Joe had the worst possible draw, landing in the upper bracket, and being scheduled to play three consecutive games on a hot afternoon.

In the opening contest the Pumas found they could beat Butler in something besides basketball as they walloped the Bulldogs, 22-3. George Herr pitched a four-hit game. In the second tilt, Indiana University fell victim to the Puma bats to the tune of 14-5 as Dick Lewczynski struck out 14 Hoosiers and allowed only two hits.

The final game proved to be the most thrilling. As St. Joe took the field against a fresh group of Purdue Boilermakers, it was evident that the boys from Lafayette were out to avenge their defeat by the Pumas in the final game last year.

Bob Naab was chosen to check the Boilermakers' bats, and this he did, even though his wildness gave them their first two runs on no hits. With the score 3-1 in favor of Purdue in the sixth inning, St. Joe scored two runs to send the game into the final frame with a tied score.

Naab set the opponents down in the top of the seventh, then made the first out in the bottom half of the inning himself before the winning rally by the Pumas was started. Bill Kun walked, as did Gene Ziemba. Kun then was apparently out on an attempted steal of third, but the third baseman dropped the ball. Bill Elbert, the next batter, grounded a sharp ball to the left of the shortstop. Kun held up for a second and then broke for the plate. The shortstop knocked the ball down and threw a perfect strike to the catcher from a sitting position; it looked as if Kun would be out by five feet. However, the catcher dropped the ball and the game was over.

Wabash Split Ends Year For St. Joe Baseballers

Undefeated Squads Top Final Listing In Intramural Ball

Champions of the intramural softball league this year are the Clovers in the 12" circuit and the Poor Bachelors in the 16" division. Each team went through an undefeated season, the Clovers coping 10 straight and the Poor Bachelors, 12. The Drexel Epars, runnersup to the Clovers, lost only two games, both to the champions. The Chi-Townites finished second in the 16" league with three losses.

Members of the Clovers team were: Frank Schroeder, Fred Hollinden, Bill Elbert, Bill Heniff, Gene Ziemba, Ron Hospodka, Bill Kun, Gus Pasquini, Ed Linskey, Bill LaBadie, George Herr, Dick Lewczynski, and Bob Hicks. Boyd Reutebuch was their coach.

The Poor Bachelors were led by Ed Zander. Other members of the team were: Vince Keegan, Bill Walsh, Chet Pilat, Pete Fenlon, John Halloran, Jack Lillig, Chet Walong, Pat Carr and Bernie Horn.

It was a pitcher's day the afternoon of May 23 in the double-header with Wabash as the Cave-men and St. Joe split a twin-bill in the final games of the year. The Pumas copped the opener 3-1, but dropped the nightcap 4-3.

Dick Dwinell pitched brilliant ball in the first game as he struck out 11 Little Giants while scattering four hits, to record his fourth triumph without a defeat. Dyer from Wabash also yielded only four hits, but a two-run outburst in the first inning proved to be his downfall.

George Smolar and Ralph Meyer both walked in this frame and Bob Wasni slapped a single to center, scoring Smolar. Moments later, Meyer scored on a long fly by Garvey. St. Joe scored its third and final run in the third when Kellogg was hit by a pitched ball, advanced on a single by Meyer and scored on another fly by Garvey.

Meanwhile Dwinell breezed along, allowing only one hit in the first five innings. But in the sixth McCoy walked, stole second and came in on Yurek's clean single to right field. Wabash threatened again in the eighth when they got their last two hits, but the rally ended when Maurie Garvey made an over-the-shoulder catch of a long drive to deep center.

Second Game

Joe Pindell pitched good ball in the second game, but tired in the last two innings to yield the victory to Wabash. Pindell gave up eight hits and struck out eight in his seven-inning stint.

The Pumas drew first blood in the nightcap as Smolar singled, stole second and scored on Meyer's single in the first inning. In the third they scored again as Meyer's double drove in Willie Kellogg, who had singled.

But the Little Giants tied the score in the fifth when Rex McCoy, who went four-for-four, slammed a home run between Garvey and Normandt, scoring Matuga before him. Wabash went ahead in the sixth 3-2, on a single, a passed ball, an error and a long fly.

St. Joe made it 3-3 in its half of the sixth as Meyer advanced to third when the second baseman bobbled Wasni's grounder. Meyer was then out on an attempted squeeze play, but Wasni scored on an error.

McCoy's fourth hit and eventual steal of second set up the winning run. He scored on a single to left. St. Joe had two on base in their half of the seventh inning, on a walk to Dick Doherty and a single by George Smolar, but Meyer's fly to center ended the game.

Sacropian Justice Meted To Drexel Wrongdoers

By BILL FEELY

Santa Heniff! Santa Gorman! Santa Pindell!

The quiet peace of Drexel Hall is broken by a wierd chant, strictly non-Gregorian. The weakhearted tremble, the wrongdoers quiver under their beds, the prefects groan and plunge deeper into their mathematics of philosophy books. The Sacropians are on the move!

These strange moth-people, by day innocent-looking Drexelites, turn the lounge of that venerable hall into a meeting place of their own when evening approaches. Then, donning the sacred symbols of their office, they march in solemn procession through Drexel's corridors, moaning their wierd melody, which, we are assured, will never replace "Doggie in the Window."

Their rendezvous this evening is the trial chambers of the Sacropian society, where Sacropian justice is dealt with a firm, though somewhat confused, hand. The trial is about to begin. Judge and Keeper of the Sacred Flora Meinert assumes his throne. Chief prosecutor and Keeper of the Pipe Netols prepares his briefs. The accused, one James J. Righeimer, a member of the clan itself, stands before the council, expecting the worst.

The defendant is accused of three counts, including the demoralization of the U. S. Marine Corps (he had dated Jerry Wenzel's girl). He is found guilty on two, acquitted of one. Just for good measure, the star witness for the prosecution, a spy from "the other side," is also found guilty and sentenced. The defendant's sentence (so horrible it cannot be printed here) is carried out within three days and the accused learns never more to trifle with the Sacropians.

Since all Sacropian meetings are held in the utmost secrecy, it was only through great difficulty that your feature reporter (a Nollite by abode) obtained an exclusive interview with the Highest of the High, the leader of the cult. Along with the information given, the sacred cleansing cap and pictures of rituals were shown to this reporter in order that he might bring to others previously-secret information about the Sacropians and their activities.

The charter of the cult was founded last semester by Ken Zawodny, since departed for far away places at the request of his favorite uncle, Sam. The main objective of the group, in the words of the Highest of the High, is, "Defense of the little man and the promotion of better things for Drexel Hall."

At present there are 17 Sacropians, nine of whom are charter members from last semester. Their names and titles are:

Bill Heniff—Highest of the High.

Gene Ziemba—Second Highest of the High.

Dick Lewczynski—Third Highest of the High.

Bob Wasni—Keeper of the Stole.

Don Gorman—Keeper of the Sacred Garb.

Murray Sims—Keeper of the Read.

Jim Wintercorn—Keeper of the Candles.

Bill Dietz—Keeper of the Sacred Cleanser.

Ken Zawodny—Honorary.

Maynard Gamber—Honorary.

Joe Pindell—Keeper of Documents.

Al LaTorra—Notary Sojac.

Duke Meinert—Keeper of the Sacred Flora.

Jim Righeimer—Sacred Chanter.

Fred Handler—Keeper of the Cast.

Don Netols—Keeper of the Pipe.

Jim Brennan—Keeper of Fans.

This summer the Sacropians are having their annual outing but the exact date has not yet been set.

Since several members will graduate next week all indications are that the sacred stole and charter will be passed on to these residents of Drexel next year who can pass the Sacropian initiation.

Gleemen Record Repertoire For Future NBC Broadcasting

Last Thursday, May 28, an engineer with a sound truck from WMAQ, Chicago, was here on campus to make recordings of the songs presented by the Glee Club during the past year. The recordings will be used for making more records for Glee Club members and others desiring them, for future broadcasts, and especially for a project sponsored by the National Catholic Music Educators Association, in connection with the National Broadcasting Company.

NBC has offered to assist the College Choral instruction section of the NCMEA in preparing a recorded series of radio programs. The series would be broadcast throughout the country on the NBC network. Each program will feature an outstanding glee club or choral group from a Catholic college.

NBC is unable, at the present time, to promise definitely whether or not they will broadcast the series. Their final decision will be guided by the quality of the recordings submitted. If the plan is accepted, the recordings will be considered for broadcast in April, May, and June of 1954 over the NBC radio network as part of a series of 13 similar recordings. The recordings will also be submitted for broadcast intact by the National Association of Educational Broadcaster "tape" network of 127 stations located in many colleges and universities throughout the country. The recordings will also be sent to the Good-Will network of France.

The groups participating in the recording were the Glee Club, Seminarian Choir, Schola Cantorum, and Concert Chorus.

During the past year, the Glee Club participated in 22 concerts, a tally made by Father Heiman shows. Two of the programs were tape broadcasts over stations KFIZ, Fond du Lac, Wis., and WFJL, Chicago. The latter honored the 25th anniversary of Bishop Sheil of Chicago.

Annual, Journal Make Appearances On Local Campus

Racing the school calendar right down to the wire, the student annual, Phase, and the semi-annual literary magazine, Measure, in that order made their appearances on campus during the final week of classes.

On May 25, the last Monday of the month, Editor George Riggs presented the student body with copies of the 1953 yearbook, bound in a blue and white cover and including within its 140 pages a pictorial review of how St. Joseph's develops "The Whole Man."

On Friday of the same week, Frank Molson, Editor of Measure, distributed the second issue of the literary magazine for 1952-53, bringing the total output for the school term two over that of the previous year. Within the 60-odd pages of Volume 12, Number 2, are articles ranging in scope from Boy Scouts to marital problems to the Index of Forbidden Books.

The new issue of Measure has the same black and white cover of the previous one and utilizes the familiar facade of Twin Towers, also used on the yearbook.

Freshman Given Pursley Award For Literature

Joe Barnett, Peru, Ind., became the second successive freshman to win the Mary J. Pursley Award for creative writing, when his short story, "The Titian Tea Rose," was chosen by a panel of three judges as this year's best.

Last year's winner, Ed Byrne, received honorable mention for his story, "Chicken"; also cited for honorable mention was Noel Coughlin's story, "Seven Cents."

The first place winner Barnett will receive a $50 prize, an award established by the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, Auxiliary Bishop of the Fort Wayne diocese, in honor of his sister.

The first prize of $25 will be given Ed Byrne for his essay, "Reading, Morality, and the Index," which was judged best in the Alumni Essay Contest by the same panel. Second place and $15 goes to Gene Rueve for his "Baldads: The Songs of Our Fathers."

All the prizes mentioned above will be given at Commencement exercises June 7. The judges for the contests were the Rev. Rufus Esser, professor of English, and the Rev. James W. Hinton and Mr. W. Stephen Sanderlin, instructors in English at St. Joseph's.

Fathers Discuss Hammond Organ

The new electric Hammond organ, which is to make its debut at baccalaureate services next Sunday, will be the chief item of conversation at the Merchandise Mart, Chicago, next Friday, when the Fathers' Club of St. Joseph's hold its final meeting of the school year.

At this meeting, further fundraising methods for the organ will be discussed; and the current project, a raffle, will be completed by the drawing of the names of prize-winners.

May 25 the Mothers' Club met informally for a tea at the home of president Mrs. Samuel L. Governale. The tea was the final social event of this school year for the mothers. The Revs. Joseph A. Otte and Richard P. Baird, of the local faculty, attended.
